The Popular Chicks in Chainmail Series Set New Standards (and Sales Figures) for Humorous Fantasy. Here're the First Three books in One Specially-Priced Omni-Trade Volume.

Here they come, and they're out for blood. For too long, they say, have hot blooded babes in brass bras and chain link bikinis been held up to scorn as the embodiment of male fantasy wish-fulfillment and non-fictionality. You think their swords won't cut, their clubs won't crush? You think they look cute?

It's time to take sword-swinging amazons more seriously. Well, maybe not too seriously. After all, the popular Chicks in Chainmail series wasn't known for stark drama and solemn think-pieces. In fact, they made a lot of people laugh. And now the first three books in the series are combined in one attractively-priced Omni-Trade Paperback volume.

- Chicks in Chainmail (The look at the lighter side of amazons that started it all.)
- Did You Say Chicks? (Smile when you say that, you wimpy noncombatant!)
- Chicks 'n Chained Males (Those men just can't take care of themselves, so send in the amazons!)

It's all right to have a laugh or two. The swordswomen like a good laugh as much as the next amazon. Just don't let them get the idea that you're laughing at them, instead of with them—if you know what's good for you . . .

Stories of fierce female fighters by Harry Turtledove, Roger Zelazny, Elizabeth Moon, Jan and S.M. Stirling, K. D. Wentworth, Lawrence Watt-Evans and more—including Esther Friesner herself.

Women Warriors Galore!

By Arthur W Jordin

Chicks Ahoy! (2010) is a Fantasy omnibus from the Chicks in Chainmail series, containing the first three volumes: Chicks in Chainmail, Did You Say Chicks?!, and Chicks 'N Chained Males. These humorous anthologies are about women warriors and are written by both female and male authors, some famous and others not so wellknown. Each anthology contains an introduction by the editor. More info can be found in my review of each anthology.

Chicks in Chainmail (1995) contains twenty-one short stories:

- "Lady of Steel" by Roger Zelazny
- "And Ladies of the Club" by Elizabeth Moon
- "Exchange Program" by Susan Shwartz
- "Goddess for a Day" by Harry Turtledove
- "Armor-Ella" by Holly Lisle
- "Career Day" by Margaret Ball
- "Armor/Amore" by David Vierling
- "The Stone of War and the Nightingale's Egg" by Elizabeth Ann Scarborough
- "The Growling" by Jody Lynn Nye
- "The New Britomart" by eluki bes shahar
- "On the Road of Silver" by Mark Bourne
- "Bra Melting" by Janni Lee Simner
- "The Old Grind" by Laura Frankos
- "The Way to a Man's Heart" by Esther Friesner
- "Whoops!" by Nancy Springer
- "The Guardswoman" by Lawrence Watt-Evans
- "Teacher's Pet" by Josepha Sherman
- "Were-Wench" by Jan Stirling
- "Blood Calls to Blood" by Elizabeth Waters
- "Maureen Birnbaum in the MUD" by George Alec Effinger

Did You Say Chicks?! (1998) contains nineteen short stories:

- "No Pain, No Gain" by Elizabeth Moon
- "Slue-Foot Sue and the Witch in the Woods" by Laura Frankos
- "A Young Swordsman's Garden Primer" by Sarah Zettel
- "The Old Fire" by Jody Lynn Nye
- "Like No Business I Know" by Mark Bourne
- "A Bone to Pick" by Marina Frants & Keith R.A. DeCandido
- "The Attack of the Avenging Virgins" by Elizabeth Ann Scarborough
- "O, Sweet Goodnight!" by Christina Briley & Walter Vance Awsten

- "A Bitch in Time" by Doranna Durgin
- "Don't You Want to Be Beautiful?" by Laura Anne Gilman
- "A Night with the Girls" by Barbara Hambly
- "A Quiet Knight's Reading" by Steven Piziks
- "Armor Propre" by Jan Stirling & S.M. Stirling
- "A Big Hand for the Little Lady" by Esther Friesner
- "Blade Runner" by K.D. Wentworth
- "Keeping Up the Appearances" by Lawrence Watt-Evans
- "La Difference" by Harry Turtledove
- "Tales from the Slushpile" by Margaret Ball
- "Yes, Did We Say Chicks" by Adam-Troy Castro

Chicks 'N Chained Males (1999) contains eighteen short stories:

- "Myth Manner's Guide to Greek Missology #1" by Harry Turtledove
- "Chain, Link, Fence" by Steven Piziks
- "Fool's Gold" by Elizabeth Moon
- "In for a Pound" by Lawrence Watt-Evans
- "Death Becomes Him" by Marina Frants
- "Straight Arrow" by Susan Schwartz
- "Bad Heir Day" by Rosemary Edghill
- "Why Do You Think They Call it Middle Earth?" by Susan Cooper
- "Leg Irons, the Bitch, and the Wardrobe" by Laura Frankos
- "Shiftless" by Josepha Sherman
- "May/December at the Mall" by Brian D. Akers
- "Yo, Baby!" by Jan Stirling
- "Don't Break the Chain!" by Jody Lynn Nye
- "Cross CHILDREN Walk" by Esther Friesner
- "...But Comedy is Hard" by Kate Daniel
- "Baubles, Bangles and Beads" by Kevin Andrew Murphy
- "Hallah Iron-Thighs and the Five Unseemly Sorrows" by K.D. Wentworth
- "Miss Underwood and the Mermaid" by Sarah Zettel

These stories are entertaining. Some are serials, with followup stories in the later volumes. Check out the interesting authors that you don't already know. Some also have full-length novels waiting for your perusal.

Highly recommended for Friesner fans and for anyone else who enjoys tales of nontraditional -- and other -- occupations for women. Read and enjoy!

singular skewering satires

By A Customer

This omnibus collection contains the frisky frolicking first three Chicks Amazonian anthology adventures. With a parry, lunge and tongue in cheek (that is the female warrior not turning the other cheek like in "The Old Grind" (Laura Frankos) but in the other's cheek. Heroines are not afraid to fight in the MUD as George Alec Effinger affirms.

Chicks in Chainmail. These are the original twenty tales. Elizabeth Moon (she also contributes shorts to the other two collections) sets the tone with "And Ladies of the Club" as the king plans to tax bras while Janni Lee Simner answers with "Bra Melting". Holly Lisle's "Armor-Ella" stars six foot El and not so Prince Charming. Finally there is super mom at "Career Day" by Margaret Ball and a female guard protecting a brothel in "The Guardswoman" by Lawrence Watt-Evans (he also contributes short stories to the other two collections).

Did you say chicks?! The second Chicks warrior anthology contains nineteen entries including a Starhawk tale by Barbara Hambly. Harry Turtledove's contribution shows the importance of gender teamwork and a "valiant vanquished" in "The Attack of the Avenging Virgins" by Elizabeth Ann Scarborough (she also contributes a short story in the first book) as women (virgins and veterans) kick all types of butt.

Chicks 'n chained Males. These sixteen contributions star women in shining armor (often less attire) who come to the aid of lads in distress. Susan Casper's "Why Do You Think They call It Middle Earth" stars a fighting female taking on dragons and other ilk to save hapless men as does "Leg Irons, The Bitch and the Wardrobe" by Ms. Frankos.

Readers of both genders will appreciate this compilation, but I suggest reading the Chicks Ahoy saga over several months as the theme is singular skewering satires summed up by "A Bitch in Time" (Doranna Durgin).

A fun read

By William Gennaro

If you like tongue in cheek humor you will love this book. It contains the first three collections of short stories in the Chicks in Chain Mail series edited by Esther Freisner. The king levies a tax on female warriors bronze Bras. Hillary Clinton wakes up in Valhalla, Bandits choose the worst time possible to raid a village full of women after their men leave. If you don't like liquid spewing from your nose or choking on a drink, then use caution while reading this book.
